Top 5 Underlying Investments & Quarterly Update

Name	AEI
Holding	17.60%
Website	www.aeienergy.com
Sector	Utilities
Business Description & Rationale	AEI is headquartered in Houston, Texas, and owns and operates 38 companies in Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, China, Colombia, Ecuador, El Salvador, Dominican Republic, Guatemala, Jamaica, Mexico, Nicaragua, Panama, Pakistan, Peru, Philippines, Poland, Turkey and Venezuela. The company operates through four core business segments: Natural Gas Transportation and Services, Natural Gas Distribution, Power Distribution and Power Generation. AEI is a company that manages, operates and owns interests in essential energy infrastructure assets in the emerging world. It is a unique global platform: others in the power space have regional businesses or are global single line e.g. generation, but none are global multi-line businesses. Over time Ashmore expects AEI to grow in Eastern Europe and Asia so that its portfolio better reflects the relative economic weights of different regions. Ashmore believes value, diversification and scale in energy are available in emerging markets, which are stable, long-term growing markets and that this will increasingly be valued by others.
Recent Events	AEI achieved budget in 2008 and began 2009 in line with budget. AEI continues negotiations for a new gas supply contract with Bolivia as well as seeking gas contracts for Fenix, a greenfield plant in Peru. AEI has secured project financing for Jaguar, its 300mw Guatemala coal plant and expects to begin construction in the near term. In line with AEI's intention to explore publicly listing the company, AEI now reports under the SEC's Form 20-F providing a similar level of disclosure as a publicly listed company: http://www.sec.gov/Archives/edgar/data/1387685/000095012309005602/0000950123-09-005602-index.idea.htm. Name	Petron Corporation
Website	www.petron.com
Sector	Energy
Business Description & Rationale	Petron is the largest oil refiner in the Philippines with a 180,000 bpd refinery in Bataan, representing approximately 63% of the country's total refining capacity. Petron has a network of over 1,250 service stations, the largest in the Philippines. Petron sells most of its products domestically, including gasoline, lube oils, LPG, gasoil, ethylene and industrial products. Following the refinery upgrade, Petron is looking to increase its utilisation rate and thereby expand profit margins as well as improve Petron's competitive positioning. The Philippine market is highly attractive: (i) it is de-regulated with retailers having been able historically to pass on higher crude prices, (ii) the country is a net importer of oil products, and (iii) the competitive landscape is stable. The Philippine market is predominantly comprised of 3 large players, Petron, Shell and Caltex. Due to its effectively captive marketing activities, Petron is more insulated from changing refining margins than other, less integrated Asian refiners.
Recent Events	During 2008, Petron completed a US$340 million upgrade to develop the operating capabilities of the refinery and has worked on a number of cost-efficiency projects. As a result, Ashmore expects earnings to grow in 2009. Macro demand in the Philippines has weakened but Petron is using this as an opportunity to focus on optimising the refinery set-up and to import products directly where the margin is better. Please refer to Petron's website for the latest information

Name	Rubicon
Holding	7.86%
Website	www.rubicon-offshore.com
Sector	Energy
Business Description & Rationale	Rubicon serves the Asian oil production industry by providing vessels which work in deep water on the fields, and which manage production. The vessels, known as MSVs (Multi-Service Vessels) and FPSOs (Floating Production, Storage and Offloading), are highly specialised, are contracted to fields for periods of 1 to 10 years, and are generally charged out per day of utilisation. Capital expenditure on oil exploration is moving offshore and, in Ashmore's view, production follows exploration, but with a lag. There is a current shortage of vessels and more importantly a shortage of skilled operators. Rubicon has both skilled operators and vessels. In addition, in the current environment, it can mobilise capital quickly to take advantage of ship sales, potential new contracts and M&A opportunities. The Rubicon business model incorporates more flexibility and willingness to take production risk than other operators. In addition, it has superior marine engineering and operating staff and access to capital. This means it can command high contract rates and can meet the demands of small and medium-sized producers.
Recent Events	There is a certain amount of distress in the oil services industry and among producers; projects are being postponed and some abandoned due to lack of financing and weaker economics at current oil and gas prices. Rubicon has not suffered directly but the management team is being vigilant with contracts and cash management. Ashmore expects that Rubicon will emerge from 2009 as a strong and well-positioned company. Please refer to Rubicon's website for the latest information

Name	Jasper Investments
Holding	5.79%
Website	www.jasperinvests.com
Sector	Energy
Business Description & Rationale	Jasper is a Singapore-listed investment company which has acquired a controlling stake in Neptune Marine, an Oslo-based drillship company with operations in Asia. Neptune has 2 vessels, one of which is contracted to PDVSA in Venezuela. Neptune Marine was in financial difficulties arising from leverage at the holding company level and also disputes between its shareholders. Jasper, together with Ashmore funds and accounts, has invested to resolve issues at the shareholder level and re-capitalise the business. In the current market for oil field services, the main objective is survival and then consolidation. Value is generated through high quality execution and being positioned in the most robust segments of drilling activity. Ashmore believes that the mid water and deep water segments offer the most attractive returns.
Recent Events	Demand in the mid to deep water segment remains strong. While some drilling projects have been cancelled, many partially and some fully completed rigs are stranded in shipyards as purchaser cash supplies have been exhausted. The supply of new rigs and conversions is being hampered by lack of capital thus providing support to rates for available units. Please refer to Jasper's website for the latest information.

Name	Pacnet
Holding	5.05%
Website	www.pacnet.com
Sector	Telecommunications
Business Description & Rationale	Pacnet, headquartered in Hong Kong and Singapore, is one of the largest Asian telecoms infrastructure and network businesses for corporate customers and wholesale broadband sales. Pacnet was created by Ashmore through the merger of Asia Netcom, C2C and Pacific Internet. Through the combination of these businesses, Pacnet has built a genuine pan-Asian services business for corporate customers in addition to its wholesale broadband sales. The growth prospects for its services are strong and the wholesale market is now clearly recovering from massive overcapacity.
Recent Events	Pacnet is now one of the most recognised brands in its sector. Ashmore expects the business to continue to show growth in revenue and profits, despite the macro situation. During 2009, the new transpacific (Japan-US) cable will be completed in partnership with Google, KDDI and Singtel. The company has achieved material revenue and earnings growth in Q1 09, in contrast to the majority of other public companies in the telecommunications sector. This has been achieved through a combination of sales and service focus and product offerings. Pacnet won the Asian Wholesale Carrier of the Year award from Frost & Sullivan, a firm of industry consultants. Please refer to Pacnet's website for the latest information

Monthly Commentary

April was another positive month for emerging markets external debt as investors continued to demonstrate strong demand for the asset class and similarly, local currencies saw their biggest single month return since 2003. Overall, our sentiment has become more positive and we have slightly increased exposure within the external debt and local currency themes based on signs of improved global activity and the positive outcome of the G20 meeting; a success for the IMF and in particular the emerging markets. We expect to see increasing risk appetite for these two investment themes. Demand for special situations is likely to increase as risk appetite returns. We believe emerging markets have suffered disproportionately from a contraction of bank lending due to biased support measures in G7 countries. The IMF resources should be particularly relevant for Central and Eastern Europe while many countries, notably in Asia, may choose to rely on alternative arrangements. In the U.S., the Federal Reserve views downside risks as dominating in the short term which was evidenced by the larger than expected GDP contraction of 6.1% annualised for the first quarter. In addition, the U.S. bank stress test is showing that another $74.6 billion in new capital still needs to be raised.

Exposure to special situations represents over 85% of AGOL with around 50 different special situation investments. As part of our strategy to ensure diversification and different "vintages" of the special situations investments, AGOL made a $50 million commitment to Ashmore's 5th global special situations fund in March which has now been partially drawdown. Special situations investments contributed both positively and negatively to NAV performance in April. The net impact was negative in the month representing the impact of further marking to market of a number of investments reflecting several factors including recent results, an analysis of public market valuations, comparisons to peers in the market and in some cases, "comparable transactions" where an investor sold holdings in a similar company or sector. In the majority of cases, we do not believe these valuations to be wholly representative of the investments' intrinsic value which are continuing to deliver sound operating performance and have almost no leverage (zero in the case of Pacnet). Nevertheless, there remains a slightly better financing situation in local markets than internationally, and in the countries in which we are invested, financial and economic stresses are more muted than in developed markets.

Emerging Market equities performed strongly in April driven by a continuing stabilisation in global cyclical data as shown by leading industrial production indicators, which are pointing to a possible end to the global inventory correction. However, some equity prices are now trading above their fundamental levels and we believe that volatility will continue with renewed weakness possible in the near future. AGOL reduced its public equity exposure to zero at the end of September 2008, and this position has largely been maintained.
