Quarterly Update of Top 5 Underlying Investments

Name	ETH Bioenergia
Holding	11.73%
Website	www.eth.com
Sector	Energy - Alternate Sources
Business Description & Rationale	ETH Bioenergia, formerly Brenco - Companhia Brasileira de Energia Renovável, is a fully integrated, renewable fuels company which has initiated construction of one of Brazil's largest ethanol production platforms involving the planning, development and harvesting of sugarcane and the large scale industrial production and distribution of ethanol fuel. The investment rationale is the favourable ethanol production environment in Brazil, with an experienced labour force, a large amount of inexpensive, fertile and arable land, an ideal climate and proven technology. ETHB's competitive advantage is based on its cost-advantaged raw material supply, integrated production and strong execution. The Company is one of the few global-scale, technologically advanced producers with significant ethanol and cogeneration capacity and a strong balance sheet.
Recent Events	Weather-related sugarcane production shortfalls which had been plaguing the industry for the past two harvest seasons finally began showing signs of abating. ETH's production ramped up significantly from the second half of June, and is expected to reach 19.6 million tons of crushing in the current harvest year. Despite a benign supply/demand dynamic, domestic ethanol prices have been stagnant for the past year, capped by regulated gasoline prices which are widely expected to be raised later this year. As a result of production and price shortfalls, ETH continues to increase its debt load, which stood at over $4 billion as of June 30. As interest rates in Brazil have come down, the cost of ETH's debt load has not increased commensurately. In addition, BNDES, Brazil's state-owned development bank has continued to support ETH as a key player in Brazil's strategic ethanol industry, and negotiations are on-going to extend maturities and defer payments on significant portions of ETH's debt.

Name	AEI
Holding	5.10%
Website	www.aeienergy.com
Sector	Utilities
Business Description & Rationale	Headquartered in Houston, Texas, AEI owns and operates interests in multiple power generation assets as well as certain natural gas transportation and distribution businesses in Emerging Markets. The Company provides the energy for development through businesses in 11 Emerging Markets countries in Asia, Central America, the Caribbean, and South America and benefits from extensive local operating expertise to foster partnerships and develop opportunities. On 19th January 2011, AEI announced the beginning of a major restructuring and repositioning of the company which would result in the sale of the vast majority of its distribution assets, whilst retaining a nucleus 2.2GW of power generation capacity as a platform for future development, excess capital will be returned to shareholders. AEI agreed to sell its interests in 10 operating companies, which collectively represented approximately 80% of AEI's total assets, for $4.8 billion. Proceeds from those sales are to be used to repay debt and to fund existing greenfield projects in the AEI portfolio, with the excess to be distributed to shareholders. AEI is reorganizing around its core power generation assets and will continue its power plant development projects in Guatemala, Peru, Argentina, Chile and China. In addition, the business will pursue compelling growth opportunities with over 1,000 MW in near-term projects under development and over 2,000 MW of mid to long-term development opportunities. Non-core asset sales continued according to plan. The sales of two of the three largest non-core assets, Huatong and GTB/TBG, closed in Q3. Trakya, the third largest asset sale which was also signed in Q2, is still pending regulatory approval and is expected to close shortly. With the closing of Trakya, AEI will have received proceeds of over $465 million and will have over $40 million in escrows which are expected to be released subject to customary conditions over a period of 18 months. Greenfield development projects continued to progress. Fenix, AEI's 531MW gas-fired power plant in Peru, continued construction apace for Q3 2013 start-up. Jaguar, AEI's 300 MW coal-fired plant in Guatemala, continues to deal with delays resulting from the EPC contractor encountering difficulties in getting visas for its workers to enter Guatemala, and is now no longer expected to be able to begin operation in 2013. Arayan, AEI's 115MW wind plant in Chile, is continuing to progress on engineering and procurement, but site works have not yet started due to delays in environmental permit approvals. Operating assets performed in line with plan, with the exception of San Felipe, which is significantly behind budget due to technical difficulties and negative heat rate results.

Name	Alphaland
Holding	4.82%
Website	www.alphaland.com.ph
Sector	Real Estate
Business Description & Rationale	High end commercial and high & mid-market residential development in Manila. The company focuses on acquiring and developing prime but undeveloped sites into Class A office and residential locations. The company has two main areas of focus: Metro Manila for office and residential development and resort & second home developments on islands near Manila (both of which feed into the same middle-to-high income bracket customer segments). Limited supply of Class A residential and commercial space in Metro Manila and growing Philippine income driving that demand.
Recent Events	All the main construction projects (Baescin Resort, Makati Place Residential and City Club and the Alphaland Tower) continue to progress well. Alphaland Tower has been topped out and an active leasing programme has been started with a number of conversations for tenants looking to take large areas of the building. Baescin and Makati Place sells have strengthened with international sales showing a strong tick up.

Market Review

Equity markets volatility increased considerably in February owing to : (a) Long positions being unwound after a few months of good performance in US equities and European assets; (b) concerns about the future of the Fed's QE program following the release of the last FOMC minutes, in which the debate about the cost of QE featured prominently; (c) the political impasse in Italy following inconclusive parliamentary elections, pointing to uncertainty regarding the future of structural reforms and fiscal consolidation.

In the US, high frequency data was positive, with employment, housing numbers and confidence indicators all better than expected. European data was poor, however, with February flash PMIs for France and the UK coming significantly below expectations. European markets sold-off significantly after the Italian elections. The Italian bond auction that followed the election had a strong bid-cover ratio, but as the 10-year bond yield traded nearly 60bps above pre-election levels. Portugal and Greece sold off in sympathy with Italy, but Spain 10 years yield were down 10bps after solid auctions slightly better-than-expected budget deficit numbers.

In Japan, the appointment of Haruhiko Kuroda, former vice Finance Minister in charge of FX policy, was viewed as a confirmation that the BoJ would act decisively to end deflation. The Japanese Yen fell another 1% in February and the Nikkei was the strongest equity market on the month – up nearly 3% on the day of Kuroda's appointment. The US dollar was up 3.5% (DXY index) in February, its strongest performance since May 2012, and gained against all the major crosses, especially Sterling (-4.4%) and the Euro (-3.8%).

Commodities had a weak month. The CRB index declined 3.63% due to a combination of strong USD and fears of further economic weakness in Europe and China. Expectations that China would attempt to curb the explosive growth in wealth management products and efforts to tame the domestic real estate sector contributed to the bearishness on base metals. In other markets, Singapore, Hong Kong and Switzerland also announced measures to tame their real estate markets.

Performance

Following strong performance in the Special Situations and Corporate Debt themes in the month, the fund was up in the period. The portfolio saw particularly good performance from the Asian Recovery Fund in the month, which rose over 8%. Corporate Debt assets in general performed well and were largely insulated from the pressure of sovereign bonds, due in fact to their higher yields and a justified reflection of their strong fundamentals. Local currency assets on the other hand generally detracted from performance, as the currency component of the theme reflected the souring investor appetite globally.

Special Situations

TAAS' updated valuation saw a number of movements, some negative and some positive. The start of production is slightly delayed to Summer 2013 due to a previous change in contractor for the processing facilities. Estimated operating expenditure until 2050 is higher than previously estimated. However, capital expenditure remains in line with expectations. Net debt is slightly higher than before but the debt/equity ratio remains comfortably below 100%. A reduction in the corporate tax rate for oil producing fields in the Yakutia region, and an extension of the exemption from mineral extraction tax has added to the valuation. On balance, the independent valuation agent marked down the equity valuation by 14%.

Other holdings moved in line with public markets, with the EMTEK share price showing a particularly strong performance.

We reported previously that we had sold the position in IMPACT, the main operating company under Bangkok Land, to Bangkok Land, for cash. We can now report that we have also completed the sale of the position in Bangkok Land itself. This was done in the public markets over a period of time, at the prevailing share prices.

On 13 of March 2013, the Board of AGOL announced that shareholders had approved the proposals at the EGM held on the same day to amend the investment objective of AGOL to realise the Company's assets in an orderly manner and return cash to shareholders, to deliver a regular, quarterly return of cash to shareholders and remove the continuation vote.
